

Develop the skills necessary to create effective online courses

Epigeum's online training will help academic staff explore the differences between face-to-face and online teaching, understand the basics of online pedagogy, and design and teach engaging online courses.

TEACHING ONLINE:

The courses provide a solid practical basis from which staff can apply proven online pedagogical frameworks to supplement their existing teaching practice. It also includes a detailed student course for use with either online learners or with teachers wishing to gain an insight into online learner characteristics, challenges, and study strategies.

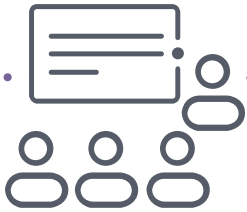

The resulting improvement in online course quality, flexibility, and efficiency will enhance the student experience, reduce drop-out rates, and save money.
