Consent Matters: Boundaries, Respect, and Positive Intervention

A fully interactive, evidence-based online course which helps students understand sexual consent and promotes positive change in Australia’s university community.

www.epigeum.com
Deliver current, inclusive, and scalable training to students institution-wide

Developed with an expert panel of advisors, authors, and student and staff reviewers, the new edition of the award-winning Consent Matters course provides interactive, evidence-based training on sexual consent, communication and relationships, and bystander intervention:

- Deliver up-to-date training institution-wide, drawing on the latest developments in Australian culture and law, and global, research-based best practices
- Engage students with a wide range of interactive, multimedia activities, helping to develop good communication, clear boundaries and mutual respect in relationships, and exploring ways to step in when witnessing a problematic situation
- Ensure an inclusive approach with realistic scenarios and peer perspectives that represent the experiences of diverse student communities
- Benefit from a fully flexible online resource that enables efficient and cost-effective scaling up of training, and can be integrated into a blended learning approach to complement face-to-face workshops

Course structure:
- Module 1: Thinking about consent
- Module 2: Communication skills and relationships
- Module 3: Looking out for others

New features:
- Up-to-date content developed exclusively for Australian institutions, and reviewed by Australian students and staff
- New topic coverage, including social media and image-based abuse
- A streamlined, modular structure – allowing for greater flexibility in delivery
- Inclusive, peer perspectives that represent the experiences of diverse student communities
- Content reviewed by a language accessibility expert to cater for students with English as a second language

New ‘Glossary’ pods support students with English as a second language.

Additional scenarios explore strategies for bystander intervention when witnessing a wide range of problematic behaviours.

Nuanced examples and activities encourage students to reflect on contemporary issues in greater depth.

Multimedia activities – including vox pops, animations, and polls – incorporate peer perspectives as part of a ‘social norms’ approach.

Mobile-optimized to be accessible anytime, anywhere.

Authentic examples that incorporate Australian culture and law clearly relate course content to real life.

New features:
- Up-to-date content developed exclusively for Australian institutions, and reviewed by Australian students and staff
- New topic coverage, including social media and image-based abuse
- A streamlined, modular structure – allowing for greater flexibility in delivery
- Inclusive, peer perspectives that represent the experiences of diverse student communities
- Content reviewed by a language accessibility expert to cater for students with English as a second language
Meet our Author Team

Lead Advisor and Author

Dr. Alan Berkowitz
An award-winning independent consultant and expert with over twenty-five years of experience, Dr. Berkowitz specialises in culture change, gender issues, ending men’s violence, and fostering social justice.

Authors

Sue Webeck
Manager of the Respectful Relationships Unit at Australia National University.

Zoe Harrison
Social Worker at Yarrow Place Rape and Sexual Assault service.

Find out more: www.epigeum.com/courses/support-wellbeing/consent-matters-second-edition/
Request more information or a free trial: epigeum@sagepub.com