

Learning Online: Essential Skills for Success

Support your students in making the most of their online learning experience

Learning Online: Essential Skills for Success provides a practical and interactive introduction to online learning – building students’ knowledge, skills, and confidence in order to optimise their learning experience and address potential barriers to success.

Made up of two thirty-minute modules, this concise and accessible online course is suitable for students who are engaging with online or blended learning for the first time, or looking to improve their online study skills.

Each module integrates authentic student experiences, practical tips, interactive activities, and useful links. From guidance around expectations and common challenges, to coverage of the skills that underpin effective online learning, the course will support students in recognising and exploring the opportunities and possibilities associated with this mode of study.

Reviewers:

Dr Eleanor Loughlin, Manager of the Academic Skills Programme at Durham University

Anthony Payne, Director of Student Services at the University of Bath

Jakob Sexton, Student Association President at The University of Law

Claire Thomson, Head of Centre for Enhancement in Learning and Teaching at Bishop Grosseteste University

Emma Young, Head of Student Success Services at the University of Bradford, UK

Find out more: <https://www.epigeum.com/courses/studying/learning-online-essential-skills-for-success/>

Request free trial: epigeum@sagepub.com